Dear Betty,

I couldn't find my brushes these days. I have an art class tomorrow. Every one of us in my class needs to bring one. Could you lend me your brushes?

By the way, I can't find my math workbook, either. Did you see it in your room?

Anita

Dear Anita,

You surely can't find your brushes because you lent them to me two weeks ago. Remember? They are still in my room. I will give them to you tonight.

I am not sure where your math workbook is, but I think you may put it somewhere in the living room. You were doing your math homework and watching TV then. Just look for it there.

By the way, today is Dad's birthday. We will go to Anna's for a big dinner. Come home early after school.
