Two men were sitting together. One was a doctor, and the other was a farmer.

The farmer said, "Let's do something to pass the time."

"How?" the doctor asked.

"We can ask each other riddles." the farmer said, "You start."

"Let's make the rules first." the doctor said, "We can play it for money. If we don't know the answer to a riddle, we have to pay each other $100."

The farmer said, "That's not fair. You are a doctor, an educated man. You know everything, but I am just a farmer."

"That's true," the doctor said, "What do you think we should do?"

"If you don't know the answer to a riddle, you pay me $100. If I don't, I'll pay you $80." the farmer said.

The doctor said, "OK. That's fair. Who'll go first?"

"I will," the farmer said, "Here is my riddle. What has three legs when it walks, but only two legs when it flies?"

The doctor repeated again. "Hmm. That's a good one. I'm afraid I don't know the answer."

He gave the farmer $100, then said, "Tell me the answer."

"I don't know, either," the farmer said, and gave him $80.
